

CONDITIONS NEAR BEULAH ARE GETTING TO BE CRITICAL

ENCOURAGING REPORTS FROM OTHER POINTS RECEIVED

Memphis Tenn April 16.—Loyalty conditions in the vicinity of Beulah are critical tonight, while from Modoc Ark., where the em bankments have shown no signs of weakening under the battering of the Mississippi River flood more encouraging reports were received. Despatches from other points tell of the levees holding well against the swollen waters.

Near Beulah the situation is reported as desperate. Bolls which up to a late hour had not been controlled developed at half a dozen along a 400 yard stretch north of the town laborers fearful that the levee will collapse seem little disposed to continue the fight at several places and farmers are hurriedly moving their stock and goods to higher ground. However those directing the fight are still hopeful that the dike will hold.

Near Modoc which is on the cotton belt levee district south of Little Rock the situation while still is not so serious as at Beulah. Well spots have been strengthened and levee board officials express confidence that the embankments will hold.

North of Memphis farmers in the territory not affected by water coming through the several levees have turned their attention to the planting preparations.

PUBLIC TRIBUTE PAID WHITMAN

New York, April 16.—Public tribute to District Attorney Charles S. Whitman in recognition of his prosecution of grafters of the police system and of the slayers of Herman Rosenthal was paid at Carnegie Hall last night by the civic forum of which many of the city's leading citizens are members.

Joseph B. Choate former ambassador to Great Britain who introduced Mr. Whitman declared that the prosecutor engaged in a task personally perilous to him.

When he entered office the city was at the mercy of a gang of hired assassins who might have been induced to murder any one of us for a little amount. said Mr. Choate. Here was a gang of assassins which by his almost superhuman efforts has been wiped out.

I don't think there is a single man who does not support the district attorney except those about whose neck the halter is tightening. continued the former ambassador. He does this at the risk of his life for some of them I am sure would not hesitate to assassinate him.

Mr. Whitman made reference to men high in authority who have actually bargained and sold for years the right to violate law and for a quickening of the public conscience to a recognition of the personal responsibility of the citizens to conditions affecting the civil and municipal life and growth.

UNDERWOOD AN OPTIMISTIC MAN

Washington April 16.—After a conference with President Wilson Chairman Underwood expressed confidence that the tariff bill would be approved by the House caucus without important amendment within a few days. While the Republicans will be given a chance to be heard he said the bill would pass the House as approved by the caucus.

When the caucus was resumed the consideration of the tariff bill work was begun on the cotton schedule. Several attempts to alter the proposed reductions on cotton and cuffs were defeated. I wish there was some way to get it steam laundry said the speaker they can run perfectly good collars with the greatest ease. There may be some combination between them and the collar manufacturer.

An amendment to place cotton stockings on the free list and a stock to reduce the proposed rate to 40 or 50 per cent of the ad valorem was voted down. The amendment to increase the duty on cotton gloves was also lost.

INHUMAN FATHER IS FOUND GUILTY

Seattle Wash April 16.—C. N. Johnson a stationary engineer was found guilty of murder in the first degree for causing the death of his six year old child by standing with the boy in his arms in front of a speeding passenger train.

Johnson on the witness stand told of making a suicide agreement with the boy after Johnson and his wife had quarreled.

Witnesses said the child played with his father not to destroy him. The boy was killed instantly but Johnson escaped with a broken leg.

W. J. Ehrhage of Meridian Miss spent Wednesday night and a while today in the city.

WEATHER BUREAU CHIEF REMOVED FROM OFFICE

Washington April 16.—Willis L. Moore chief of the weather bureau whose resignation has been in President Wilson's hands to become effective July 1st was summarily removed from office today charged with serious irregularities.

This announcement was made at the White House while a conference was in progress between Secretary Hamilton and President Wilson.

Prof. Moore declared today that secret charges had been preferred against him and that they had been secretly investigated. He had not been shown a copy of these charges he said had not been given an opportunity to investigate them himself and was given no opportunity to cross examine the witnesses who testified against him. No opportunity had been given him to defend himself, he declared.

I have been treated like a prisoner exiled to Siberia said the former weather chief.

Moore handed in his resignation more than a month ago under circumstances which led to persistent reports that he had been asked to quit. It was then announced he would stay until July 1st to permit the solution of a successor. Prior to President Wilson's inauguration an active campaign was carried on for Moore's appointment as Secretary of Agriculture. After President Wilson took office the white house was virtually flooded with letters and telegrams from all parts of the country suggesting the retention of Moore as chief of the weather bureau.

Some officials declared President Wilson did not view the activity in Mr. Moore's behalf with favor and some of the weather bureau's enemies charged that he himself was behind it. From time to time charges against Moore's office have been made to Congress but nothing ever came of them.

BLOATED RICHES CURSE OF NATION

Washington April 16.—Amplifying his speech of Saturday night before the National Democratic club in New York city in which he scolded war lords on the rich Vice President Marshall has authorized his local paper publication of a remarkable statement regarding that address.

Principally he urged the injection of conscience into big business as an antidote for socialism. He also reiterated his argument against the perpetuation of great fortunes.

The vice president insisted he was not expressing his personal opinions alone but that he was joined by those expressed to him by many honest financiers. Lawless millionaires and ditch diggers men who had met on the street on the trains and trolley cars and in their homes.

Men are asking he said who they there is any difference between the manufacturer who comes to the government to ask help in his business and the poor man who goes to the work house to ask for help.

Men of judgment have expressed to me the opinion that if a vote were taken on a proposition to make all estates over the sum of $100,000 revert to the state upon the death of the owner—the $100,000 being exempted it would be carried 2 to 1.

Mr. Marshall urged that further laws were not necessary for regulation of great fortunes or of concentrated wealth. He held that the solution is in the arousing of the conscience to their responsibilities to the community at large.

WOMEN JUDGES FOR NEW COURT

Chicago April 16.—A state moratorium with women as judges, to protect working girls against unprincipled employers will be proposed in a bill to be introduced in the Illinois legislature by the state women's welfare commission. Lieutenant Governor Barrett, Illinois chairman of the commission, made this announcement yesterday just before members of the investigating body departed for Springfield.

We have received scores of letters from stenographers and factory girls telling how they had been lost astray by the men for whom they worked, said the Lieutenant Governor. These letters were not anonymous and we have a list more than 200 business and professional women filed away for reference. These men figured in the communications received as responsible agents for the moral ostracism of more than 200 girls.

The girl who is wronged by a man of station can do nothing under present conditions. When she goes to court the publicity injures her more than the man and she is frequently accused of attempting blackmail. Most girls cannot even go to court because of lack of funds.

With five women sitting as judges of state morals court conditions would be changed. Girls can tell their experiences in confidence and escape harmful publicity. The names of the responsible men will be known in court and if circumstances within the information can be used either to drive the man from the community or to prosecute him.

SOCIALIST STRIKE NOW SPREADING

Large Belgium April 16.—The strike is spreading here. The Socialist policy it now appears was not to show their full strength of movement during the first few days to let employers of industry be progressive. Several hundred more men who are employed at the National Arms Factory went out.

The Salvation Army's extra effort to raise funds in the spring of the year only comes once during the whole year, and not monthly as some have already supposed. This fund is to help our rescue work and places that are non self-supporting such as the blind work, etc. and letters of appeal will be distributed one day, then the collector will call the next morning and those who feel so disposed to help this work along it will be received thankfully and used strictly for good work.

ANGER ON AFRICAN MAY MAKE YOU SICK

Ralph Waldo Trine, writing a most interesting and helpful article entitled "A Healthy Mind in a Healthy Body," in the April Woman's Home Companion, says in part:

The general law is that all powerful tranquil, undisturbed types of thoughts tend to act beneficently and healthfully upon all bodily organs and functions and are health producing in their results, while all of the opposite nature have disturbing destructive influences and tend to produce bodily disorders. Among the former are faith, hope, courage, joy, good will, sympathy, affection, magnanimity. Among the latter are fear, worry, grief, anxiety, ill will, jealousy, anger, hatred.

It is an unalterable law that the mind can act and always does act either for the health or for the disease of the body. We have disorders and diseases corresponding to what may be termed both positive and negative pervasions of thought. Among the latter are fear, grief, worry, despondency. Their action upon the various bodily organs and functions seems to be of a slow corroding lowering of activity and slowly poisoning nature. In brief, a falling state of the mind is followed always by a falling condition of the body.

The slightest indulgence in or control by them results in lowered vitality and hence capability, the these results may not always be sufficient to register themselves in any specific form in the body. If more pronounced or long continued they do culminate in this way. They interfere with the normal process of nutrition. They prevent the circulation of rich life giving blood with the results of a lowered, poorer type of body building. They attack and undermine the nerves and the entire nervous organism resulting in the military of the military units that 250,000 men have joined the national political strike of the Belgian workers, who have chosen this means of forcing the grant of manhood suffrage and the abolition of the system by which wealthy citizens are given plural voting power.

The Socialist leaders today claimed that the total number of strikers is over 400,000.

It is stated that the Belgian government finds itself with a very small supply of coal to run the state railroads. This supply is likely to be exhausted by the end of the week thus crippling transportation facilities. Lack of fuel will also cause the stoppage of many electric and gas plants and prevent many thousand housewives from working.

Kimble Vandervelde, the Socialist leader, today completed an automobile tour of the precincts of Parliament and Namur. He summed up his observations as follows:

All business is stagnated throughout the industrial district. Of the 200,000 workmen in the two provinces 100,000 are striking.

From various parts of the country reports show that in some places the movement has been very successful, while in others, more especially districts under the control of the Catholic unions, the men are lukewarm.

Violence has been exceptional since the order to quit work was given on Monday, only a few cases of destruction of property or interference with non-strikers having occurred.

MOVING PICTURE SHOWS

Washington April 16.—Moving picture men are to show what the department of commerce is doing for the people of the United States. Secretary Redfield decided today that such a system would be of great value both to his department and to those interested in its work. He appointed a committee to confer with a New York moving picture concern.

Among the activities which may be shown are those of census taking and makers collecting and collating their data, bureau of fishery men gathering eggs on various fish grounds and the hatching and distribution methods employed, the means used by the bureau of standards for establishing correct systems of weights and measures and the coast and geodetic survey everywhere taking soundings and measurements for use in preparation of official maps.

PEOPLE EXPECT A GOOD DEAL MORE FROM A NEWSPAPER—MORE THAN THEY DO OF OTHER BUSINESSES

But for advice on editorial, it would all become unbearable. Advice in cheap and we all make fun of too much of it because it is cheap but it is a good thing in its place and serves to whip us into line after while.

But the man who doesn't pay to put up the payroll for a newspaper each week can't imagine what a place of financing it is.

Every small paper, like the Eagle, has much good advice given it. It is all given with the very best of intentions. It is your friends who give you advice, in a rule. They want to see you do well and believe they are doing you a good part and most of the time they are.

Probably the city papers are never told that they ought to get a boost to and put out on it like the New York papers do. They are too big, probably for this sort of advice. The little ones are not.

There are two sides in every game, and the newspaper game has more, if possible.

If you write the postoffice authorities that Dothan should have twice as many clerks and carriers, some official, higher up, will not want to know how much the increase at Dothan post office was during the last quarter. When they look over the statement and see that we are just a little short of Montgomery, or Birmingham, the authorities are liable to tell you to wait a while, to wait till we have more people, and therefore more patronage.

If you say to the dry goods merchant, he should put in a stock of all and complete like Wm. W. Baker's or Macy's he will tell you it won't pay that he has not the customers in this territory to back it up.

If you say to the lawyer that he should equip a party of a half a dozen persons and employ a dozen stenographers and make a big sign, like a big lawyer, he will tell you that his equipment is in keeping with business—his income, and that he doesn't need to put on this extra expense.

If you say to the doctor that he should build a hospital or an elite rate sanatorium, and employ a dozen specialists in their own line, with a dozen automobiles, he will tell you that there was hardly enough sick men in this territory to warrant spreading on so much dog.

If you ask the dairyman why he doesn't buy two hundred more good cows and put on a dairy what he will say. Show me the customers and I'll show you the cows.

Constantly it is pointed out that the Eagle isn't half as big as the Advertiser, the Constitution, the Journal, or the Birmingham papers. We discovered this alone, and it bothered and it has caused us no little worry. But you know we are younger than these papers and operate in a much younger town of a much younger.

We could for a few days print as big a paper as either of these, but our edition would contain more reading matter to the square inch than any publication we know of, including the Congressional Record, which ought to be barred from the mails.

In our several years experience searching through the larger papers for items to print we have discovered that they don't print a big paper when they have big advertising, and need some reading matter to border the ads with.

Newspapers are generous and big, and enterprising and public spirited, but they don't spend money ordinarily without seeing where that money is going to bring back more. We could print a sixteen page daily and spend hundreds of dollars for a new service to cover the country and get out a paper that would be the talk of the town and country but we couldn't hold out long. It would soon get the off a point along with hair fallow and office towel.

This town has grown wonderfully in advertising ways during the last five years but we have an eye on it. As it stretches and reaches out we try to reach just as far for the time as it ought to give. When Dothan gives the advertising patronage that a city of 20,000 should give we desire to be in the neighborhood with undisturbed hands to receive it and with equipment to take care of it. We don't believe that any business man would put money into a paper merely to make it larger unless by doing so it got enough business to take care of the increased expense.

FINITING SKY SCRAPER

One of the duties of a new commission named by the board of estimates of New York is to decide whether or not a limit is to be put upon the height to which buildings may go in that city. There is growing sentiment against the building of skyscrapers and it is said to be probable that the commission will fix a limit for buildings far below the height reached by the tops of some of the famous towers of the metropolis.

The tallest structure in New York the Woolworth building, rises to 760 feet. There are 156 buildings ten or more stories high but there are only 117 more than sixteen stories. The popular height is thirteen stories and 389 are of that height.

Lack of water pressure and the danger from consumption of human beings in the halls, stairs and elevators of tall buildings in event of fire have caused severe criticism of skyscrapers. It may be that the world has already seen its tallest buildings that the tendency of city building in the future will be to spread out rather than to reach the clouds.—Savannah News

Billy Patterson Was Never Hit

Not very long ago evidence was discovered tending to show that the boy never stood on the burning deck. Then it was found that Gen. Putnam never rode his horse down a long flight of stone steps to escape the pursuing British soldiers. Then somebody asserted that Columbus didn't discover America. All of these efforts to prove old stories false might have been forgiven but not some one endeavored to show that the famous little lamb did not belong to Mary at all. Mary may have had a little lamb but it is claimed the one the verses made immortal belonged to a little maid named Lucy and was born about March 1, 1814 in Massachusetts.

When the higher critics begin discussing the boy of the lamb it is time to call a halt.—Savannah News

Sound Like Demagogue

Vice President Marshall told the New Yorkers last Saturday night that the temper of the American people will no longer brook opposition and that the men who have money must reckon with the spirit of unrest. He thinks that Socialism will result if his warning is not heeded. We are something of an admirer of Vice President Marshall but truth impels us to say that much of it he said in the line of the ranting of a demagogue. (G.A.) Times

CONVICT BUREAU PROBE ADJOURNS TO APRIL 30

Montgomery, Ala., April 16.—After a conference held Tuesday between the attorneys for the state and the examiners of Public Accounts, the announcement was made that an adjournment until April 30 would be taken in the Convict investigation. It is understood that there are several more witnesses to be examined and it is possible that some more disclosures will be made. Chief purpose of the investigation however is to discover further weaknesses in the convict system with a view toward their permanent correction.

With the information already obtained the work of rearranging this department of the State Government will at once be carried out. A wholesale change will probably be made in the purchasing of supplies while the custom heretofore in vogue with wardens whereby they obtained supplies and other properties of the state will be abolished.
